I am pleased to report that the MVFF club has dipped its collective toes into the waters of online membership services. After months of discussion in our board meetings, we now have a new PayPal account that will allow members to renew their memberships and pay for fishing permits online. I want to thank board members Tom Johnson, Jim Hulsey, and Bob Silver for their efforts in setting up and testing the new account. It is anticipated that the PayPal account will eventually allow members to directly purchase other items such as tickets to the Fly Fishing Film Tour event and club merchandise. We currently have about 210 paid members, and membership renewals are due this month, so we hope the PayPal system will make it easier for everyone to submit their dues and speed up the process of getting fishing permits to out of town members.

The winds of spring are already here, albeit a month ahead of schedule, so it must be time to start thinking about and preparing for our summer fishing adventures. Over the past several months I've received several requests from the Lady Anglers and other club members to arrange for a casting class taught by a certified casting instructor. In response, we have arranged to have Bob Widgren drive down from Albuquerque, teach a couple of casting classes, and make a presentation at our next meeting of the general membership. On Sunday, March 11, Bob will teach two back-to-back casting classes at the Alumni Pond on the NMSU campus. The first class, scheduled for 9am, will be for the Lady Anglers or any other women in the club who would like to improve their casting without a bunch of guys telling them what to do. At about 10:30 there will be another session for all club members. At our club meeting the following day, Monday, March 12, Bob will present a slide show entitled "Fly Casting: Techniques & Troubles." I hope many of you will be able to attend what should be a very useful couple of days of preparation for time on the water later in the season.

An opinion poll taken last year by the Theodore Roosevelt Conservation Partnership, and reported in Outdoor Life (part of the Field & Stream Network) produced some pretty amazing results regarding anglers' and hunters' attitudes about our public lands. One of the most compelling results of the poll is the finding that 94% of anglers and 64% of hunters depend on public lands for at least part of their activities (Ben Long, Outdoor Life, June 29, 2017). The poll respondents weighed in on a number of other issues that are being discussed in government circles, and some of the results may be surprising, especially if one has been listening to claims being made by our elected officials. Ninety-seven percent of the respondents agree that protecting and conserving public lands for future generations is important. Eighty-seven percent do not want to see any cuts in the federal budget that would reduce funding for conservation. Eighty percent support the Clean Water Act protections for headwater streams and wetlands, and 77% of Republicans and 80% of Democrats support keeping the existing number and size of National Monuments that offer hunting and fishing opportunities. In other words, support for conservation of our public lands is very strong all across the political spectrum; the political polarization we often see with regard to other public policy issues does not really occur with public lands, and we should not allow our elected officials to pretend that it does.

Increasingly, sportsmen's groups, conservation groups and other public lands stakeholders are recognizing that we will need to work together to maintain the quality of, and access to our public lands. In the emails I receive as club president, I am seeing evidence of increased efforts to network among public lands user groups. For example, I regularly receive (and forward to the Board members) contacts from groups such as Trout Unlimited, the New Mexico Wildlife Federation, and the New Mexico Backcountry Hunters & Anglers. I recently received a request for assistance from another worthwhile group which is offering some special opportunities for angling and hunting in northern New Mexico.

The Special Forces Association, Chapter 80, Las Cruces, New Mexico is holding two raffles to raise funds for their programs. The prizes consist of an all-expenses paid elk hunting trip and a separate guided fishing trip for 2 people. Lodging and meals will be provided by the NM Lodge & Ranch at Chama Land & Cattle Company. The raffle tickets cost $20 each for the elk hunt, and $10 for the guided fishing trip. A maximum of 600 tickets will be sold for each raffle. To purchase tickets it will be necessary to contact the Association by email, request the number of tickets you want to purchase, and send in your payment. Check out the flyer reproduced on page 6, or you can access their Facebook page for more details.

Finally, just a quick reminder that our annual Kids' Fishing Clinic held in conjunction with the NM Department of Game and Fish and the NMSU student chapter of the American Fisheries Society is scheduled for March 24 at Alumni Pond at NMSU. As in years past, we will need lots of volunteers, so if you can help out and haven't yet signed up for a station, please contact club VP Tom Johnson and make arrangements to assist where needed. The event runs from 9am to 2pm, and volunteers should be there by at least 8:30 to help with setting up the stations. We'll have some fliers at the club meeting on the 12th that members can distribute to friends and neighbors. Hope you can make plans to be there for what is a popular community event. ↑

Ron Bellerose
PHW Coordinator

Project Healing Waters is moving very slowly. With fly tying twice a month and once with the MVFF our attendance is very low. With the loss of Ft Bliss and by not holding fly tying at the Las Cruces VA Clinic recruiting is almost impossible. Most of our PHW participants are Viet Nam era individuals. The new Las Cruces VA Clinic should be opening soon and we will have better access to Vets with disabilities. The building is ready but they seem to have run out of money for the furniture.

We are trying to get a trip together to Silver Creek in Arizona for the end of March. I am looking at taking 3 Vets to Show Low, AZ, for fishing the end of season quality water area. The special waters area closes the last day of March. I am also looking to take a San Juan trip this spring depending on the water conditions along with a couple of trips to the lease and to Grindstone Lake.

I am still looking for a volunteer to act as the alternate program lead for PHW. This would involve setting up some fishing trips, casting and fly tying classes.

For more information about PHWFF see www.projecthealingwaters.org. Contact Ron Bellerose (575-680-5516), flyfishnh@hotmail.com if you wish to volunteer to help out. ↑

Club Provided Fishing Assistance

By Bob Silver – Membership

From time to time Club members have asked for help with tackle questions or tips about fishing. More members are fishing the lease right now and the waters up north will be opening soon. We want to provide a service if you need help to start the New Year off right. One way we can help is being available after the regular monthly Club meeting, which is the 2nd Monday of the month. The next meeting will be Feb 12th. After each meeting adjourns several of us will stay to answer questions or “fix” tackle issues. If you have a problem with your tackle let us know in advance by sending an email explaining what the issue is. If needed, we will bring “supplies” to help solve the problem. Send an email to mvffclub88011@gmail.com.

Also we have been asked to plan a trip for new members to become familiar with the lease. My plan is that each month someone from the Board or a Club volunteer will organize a first timer's trip to the lease. I need to discuss dates with the Board so that we can schedule those trips between February and May 2018. Please check your email for the schedule. ↑

MVFF Board Meeting Minutes

Monday, February 19, 2018

Submitted by Jeff Arterburn, Secretary

The MVFF Board meeting was called to order by David Carmichael at 7:01pm in the NMDG&F Conference room. Board members present were: Jeff Arterburn (Secretary), David Carmichael (President), Jim Hulsey, Bob Silver (Membership), Chuck Mueller (Treasurer), Dillen Martinez, Jim Sorenson and Tom Johnson (Vice President). Board Members absent: Robert Ardovino. Non-Board members in attendance: Ron Bellerose and Zach Speir (VP NMSU American Fisheries Society).

1. Meeting Minutes. The minutes from the January 15, 2018 Board meeting were approved as published in the February 2018 issue of the newsletter.
2. Treasurer's Report. The Treasurer's report and current account balance statement of $10,758.42 was presented by Chuck Mueller, and accepted by the Board.
3. Membership Report. Bob Silver reported 209 active members, with 7 new members joining since last report.
4. Project Healing Waters. The program is looking for someone to serve as a new volunteer lead alternate, particularly to help manage the fly tying sessions, fishing trips to the lease, etc. Another notice will be placed in the March newsletter. Fly tying sessions are held the 2nd Tuesday of the month from 10am-12pm, and also on the last Wednesday of the month at the Vet Center. A new clinic will be opening soon. Ron is planning another trip to Silver Creek in AZ March 25-28, and may need an additional volunteer to help out.
5. Gila/Rio Grande Chapter of Trout Unlimited. Jeff Arterburn informed the board that the GRG-TU Board Members have started meeting regularly on the 3rd Mondays of the month from 5:30-6:30 pm at the Game II, 4131 Northrise Drive, and anyone interested is welcome to attend. Jeff and Brad attended the recent Gila Recovery Team meeting and can share details. The NMDGF progress on Whitewater Creek is promising and if all proceeds as planned the opportunity for restoring Gila Trout should be starting in 2019. Jeff and Jim Brooks will be presenting at the Gila Natural History Symposium on February 23rd. The symposium is held in the Global Resource Center, Western New Mexico University, and the GRG-TU talk is titled "Converging Interests in Conservation and Angling to Engage Citizen Science Support for Restoration of Native Gila Trout". The Chapter has a pending USFS Citizen Science grant proposal requesting support for continuing work on Willow Creek and expects to hear about funding decisions in early March. Design of an informational sign installation at Willow Creek is underway, and planning for a volunteer work weekend has narrowed down to May 11-13.
6. NMSU American Fisheries Students. Dillen reported that 10 students are planning to participate in the fly tying session held starting 9am, Feb 24th, on the NMSU campus in Knox Hall Room 142. The next day, Sunday Feb 25th, the group will make a trip to the lease. Dillen will have a confirmed final list by Wednesday, and will coordinate with volunteers providing transport to the lease. The carpool will plan to leave Las Cruces at 7am from the old Kmart lot of Hwy 70.
7. Presentations and Events. Bob Widgren will present specialized casting instruction on Sunday morning March 12th. The specific details need to be finalized, but both the women's angling group and college students have expressed interest in special casting sessions. Bob's presentation at the general meeting on Monday March 13th will address how to recognize and fix casting problems. Ron indicated that he may not be available to pick up the NMDGF conference room key for the meeting and the coffee pot from the storage unit; Jim Hulsey offered to take care of these (if needed).
The April 9th meeting will feature David Carmichael with a presentation on "Why bother keeping a fly fishing journal?" Looking ahead to the May 14th meeting, Tom Johnson suggested a presentation featuring an overview of local areas to fish. Laurence D'Allesandro from NMDGF was suggested as a possible speaker, and will be contacted to see if he is available.
